

Institute of Physiology of the CAS

The Department of Molecular Bone Physiology (Mgr. Michaela Tencerová, Ph.D.) is looking for a new member to the team in the position:

Research assistant

Job description:

- common biochemical and molecular methods (e.g. ELISA, Western blot, PCR, c) and basic data analysis
- preparation of media and stock solutions for laboratory work
- work with cell cultures (primary and cell lines)
- technical assistance in the laboratory
- administration and ordering

Our requirements:

- university education in the field of biochemistry, molecular biology or another corresponding field with at least one year of experience in the field
- knowledge of laboratory work techniques
- knowledge of working with animals is an advantage, but not mandatory
- basic knowledge of bioinformatics is an advantage, but not mandatory
- independence, reliability, commitment to work, flexibility, willingness to learn new techniques
- intermediate knowledge of English
- computer skills (Excel, Word) and basic data analyses

We offer:

- full-time work
- stable background of a public research institution, interesting work in a creative academic environment
- working in a small and friendly team
- 5 weeks of holiday + 1 week of additional holiday + 3 days of sick leave
- 100,- CZK meal allowance for each day worked
- availability of the campus kindergarten
- parking at the premises, bike shed, good accessibility of public transport
- fixed-term employment contract with probationary period and possibility of extension

Starting day: Immediately, or according to an agreement

Contact person: personalni@fgu.cas.cz

If you are interested, please send your CV and references. The selected candidates will be invited for an interview.